

Laudation from the Circle of Greek children's book

“This novel, simply written, with lively dialogues and a widespread tenderness speaks about the particularities of a very clever boy that has Asperger's Syndrome. In a lean way the writer (herself ignorant to the boy's condition undertakes tending him for a while) describes her initial surprise turning into anger and desperation when she can't understand his behavior. Drama teasing with sensitivity the “shenanigans” of the kid and her own desperation invites the readers in her little hero's extraordinary world....”
